6. Workplace and scientific orientation

The work will be carried out at the Rectory of the University of Lisbon, under the scientific supervision of Professor Cecília Maria Pereira Rodrigues.

7. Selection methods and how they are valued

7.1 The selection method to be used is a curricular assessment (AC = 70%) and a motivation letter (Cm = 30%). If necessary, the selection board reserves the right to call up to three candidates for an interview (E). In this case, for the candidates who go through to the interview stage, the first assessment component (AC = 50% + CM=20%) will weigh 70% and the interview will weigh 30%. The jury may not award the grant if no candidate is found with the profile considered suitable;

7.2 The Curricular Assessment (CA) is expressed on a scale of 0 to 20 points, valued to the hundredths; the Motivation Letter (CM) and the Interview (E), if any, are evaluated according to the classification levels of High, Good, Sufficient, Low or Insufficient, which correspond, respectively, to the classifications of 20, 16, 12, 8 and 4 points;

7.3. In the Curricular Assessment (CA) of the candidates, their aptitudes are assessed, weighted according to the requirements of the work plan, the final classification of the doctorate and the Experience, and it is done according to the parameters defined in the minutes of the Jury and taking into account the skills expressed by the candidate in the Curriculum Vitae in the following areas:

- i) proven experience in previous participation in research and development projects (national or European) that address issues related to the assessment of environmental risks and their relationship with health, particularly in the occupational, social (ageing) and clinical contexts,
- ii) proven experience in scientific publications (articles, book chapters or books), in which the candidate is author or co-author, considering their nature and impact;
- iii) experience of providing services to the community and society, applied in the occupational, ageing and clinical contexts;

- iv) experience in designing and writing projects;
- v) advanced training in digital format in occupational, ageing and clinical contexts, as well as management of digital platforms;
- vi) proficiency in English (minimum C1 level).

7.4 The Motivation Letter will be assessed objectively and systematically on the basis of the candidate's motivation, the relevance of the grant to his/her personal project, the suitability of the candidate's profile to the defined work plan, and written expression and fluency.

7.5 In the interview (E), if it is held, the knowledge and technical skills and behavioural aspects shown during the interaction between the interviewer and the interviewee are assessed objectively and systematically, namely those related to communication and interpersonal skills, information analysis and critical thinking, initiative and autonomy, planning and organizational skills; ability to integrate and collaborate in work teams.

7.6 Each of the selection methods is eliminatory.

7.6.1 Candidates who do not obtain a mark of 14 or more in the CA and 12 or more in the CM, or who are not ranked in the top 5, will be excluded from the (CA+CM).

7.6.2 Candidates who do not attend the interview or who obtain a score of less than 9.5 at the interview will be excluded from (E).

7.7 Candidates have access to the jury's minutes, which contain the evaluation parameters and respective weighting of each of the selection methods to be used, the classification grid and the final evaluation system of the method, provided if they request them.
